Designed for students who have mastered 350-700 characters, these engaging graded readers provide an introduction to renowned Chinese personalities who have made significant contributions to world culture. By focusing on international celebrities such as the superstar athlete, Yao Ming, and pianist, Lang Lang, Chinese Biographies maintains a cultural context relevant to American students, enabling them to improve their reading skills in a contemporary context.

Each biography is in simplified characters and includes pinyin annotation, allowing students of any level to read along without the need of a dictionary for pronunciation. Unlike other graded readers at this level, the pinyin is separated by word rather than syllable. This unique approach gives students a better understanding of how Chinese characters come together to form words and sentences.

Comprehension questions at the beginning and end of each chapter are designed to facilitate dialogue between students and teachers. A FREE companion website, www.chinesebiographies.com, includes audio downloads, class handouts, online activities, games, and more.
